"I have been looking for time and money efficient ways to improve my performance as a 63 year old competing martial artist and ways that I can better support the athletic community. Dr Jerome's focus on clinical and fitness integration has given me a practice track to run on moving me beyond symptom relief care to get my share of the fitness market. Thank you also to Erchonia for providing the great clinical tools, the education on how to use them and the marketing resources to leverage my investment."
